Highline AAUW
theme is “Participation & Engagement”

Participation is important because it strengthens community bonds, fosters shared responsibility, and ensures that diverse voices are heard in shaping local decisions, programs, and policies. When people engage, they help build a more equitable, resilient, and vibrant community where everyone's needs and talents are recognized.

Why Participation Matters:

1. Empowerment – Individuals gain a sense of agency and influence over decisions that affect their lives.
2. Representation – Broader participation ensures that marginalized or underrepresented groups have a voice.
3. Better Solutions – Diverse perspectives lead to more creative and practical problem-solving.
4. Social Connection – Participation builds relationships, trust, and mutual support among neighbors.
5. Civic Health – Engaged communities are more informed, active, and resilient in times of change or crisis.

Ways Community Members Can Get Started or Reengage:

1. Start Small – Attend a local town hall, school board meeting, AAUW meeting or neighborhood association gathering.
2. Volunteer – Offer your time or skills to a local nonprofit, mutual aid group, school, or community center.
3. Join or Support Local Initiatives – Look for clean-up days, cultural events, advocacy efforts, or food drives.
4. Speak Up – Share your thoughts through public comment periods, social media, or by writing to elected officials.
5. Connect with Others – Partner with friends, family, or neighbors to attend or host community events together.
6. Educate Yourself – Stay informed about local issues, leadership, and opportunities through newsletters or community bulletin boards.
7. Join a Board or Committee – Many cities, schools, or nonprofits seek volunteers for advisory groups and leadership roles.

Participation isn't about being an expert—it's about showing up, listening, learning, and contributing in any way you can. Even small steps can make a big impact. September Event

AAUW Highline and LWV - Seattle sponsored a meeting to discuss the upcoming candidate forums for Burien and Des Moines at Des Moines Library Meeting Room on September 20, 2025

AAUW Highline members, Emily Hitchens, Karen Keiser, Eva Parks, Kerry Lohr, Mary Kay Ault, Anneliese Ellerton, Sharon Feucht, Linda Hagen and Jean Munro attended, as well as Diane Hoyer, president of AAUW Federal Way and a neighboring guest. Vicci Rudin and Meg Van Wyk, representing LWV-Seattle, also attended the meeting.

Emily Hitchens welcomed branch members and introduced the visitors. She gave an interesting overview of the history of women's movements and societies, such as Women's Suffrage, League of Women Voters and AAUW over the last 150 years. Guest speaker Vicci Rudin from LWV, Seattle, talked about the founding of LWV in 1920, and reviewed their current mission. She handed out LWV Voter Directories of elected officials in WA State and suggested how members of our communities could participate with the upcoming candidate forums. (see box below).

PARTICIPATION OPPORTUNITY

Dear Highline Members: If you would like to volunteer, there are still some opportunities to help at the forums in Burien and Des Moines. Please contact Vicci Rudin at rudin@olypen.com if you are interested in signing up.

Forum	Date	Time	Location
Highline School Board	Tuesday, September 30, 2025	6:00pm-7:30pm	Burien Library, 2nd Floor
Burien City Council	Tuesday, October 7, 2025	6:00pm-7:30pm	Burien Library, 2nd Floor
Des Moines City Council	Tuesday, October 14, 2025	7:00pm-8:00pm	Wesley Des Moines
33rd Legislative District Rep #1	Tuesday, October 14, 2025	8:00pm-9:00pm	Wesley Des Moines

Our branch is one of the sponsors of four candidate forums planned for this fall prior to the elections. The lead sponsor is the League of Women Voters of Seattle-King County. The others are the King County Library System and the Special Needs PTA. The four evening meetings are intended to showcase candidates for the Highline School Board, the Burien City Council, the Des Moines City Council, and the 33rd Legislative District.

Highline School Board is the first forum, on September 30, 6:00-7:30pm at Burien Library, 2nd floor.

Burien City Council is next, on October 7, 6:00-7:30 pm, also at Burien Library, 2nd floor.

Des Moines City Council is on October 14, 7:00-8:00 pm at Wesley in Des Moines.

33rd Legislative District is also on October 14, 8:00-9:00 pm at Wesley in Des Moines.

The format will give each of the candidates for contested positions an opportunity to speak and to answer questions. The public will have the chance to ask questions of the candidates, with members of the League and perhaps AAUW monitoring microphone use. Candidates for uncontested positions will be invited but because of time constraints will not have speaking opportunities.

AAUW Florida Public Policy Report by Lynn Zachow - September 9, 2025

The Florida Book Banning forum was recorded and the Vimeo link is below.

Even though the speakers, Nancy Tray and Anne Tressler, were addressing a particular county in Florida, a lot of what they talked about is important everywhere in the US. Obviously, here in WA we don't have the laws that have been enacted in Florida regarding "Don't Say Gay" or the extreme book banning which have passed at the state level. The two speakers were very attuned to what is going on in the public schools where their children attend and are very concerned that the state has allowed so much of public school monies go for private school vouchers. Nancy really emphasized the need for people to volunteer in their schools and to be a part of groups that are responsible for determining whether a book should be banned or not.

What they also talked about was "soft" censorship because the state laws are so vague the teachers and librarians are censoring some books themselves because they don't know if they will be in trouble if they don't.

The first 2025-2026 Issue Forum on Book Bans in Public Schools is now up on Vimeo! If you weren't able to attend live, here's the recording:

<https://vimeo.com/1117615550>

I assure you it was hard-hitting and to the point. Interesting discussion too.

"That Librarian: The Fight Against Book Banning in America" by Amanda Jones

"Amanda Jones started getting death threats, all for standing up for our right to read . . . but she's not stopped fighting against book bans, or stopped advocating for access to diverse stories."-Oprah Winfrey, in a speech at the 2023 National Book Awards.

Part memoir, part manifesto, the inspiring story of a Louisiana librarian advocating for inclusivity on the front lines of our vicious culture wars.

One of the things small town librarian Amanda Jones values most about books is how they can affirm a young person's sense of self. So, in 2022, when she caught wind of a local public hearing that would discuss "book content," she knew what was at stake. Schools and libraries nationwide have been bombarded by demands for books with LGBTQ+ references, discussions of racism, and more to be purged from the shelves. Amanda would be damned if her community were to ban stories representing minority groups. She spoke out that night at the meeting. Days later, she woke up to a nightmare that is still ongoing.

Amanda Jones has been called a groomer, a pedo, and a porn-pusher; she has faced death threats and attacks from strangers and friends alike. Her decision to support a collection of books with diverse perspectives made her a target for extremists using book banning campaigns-funded by dark money organizations and advanced by hard right politicians-in a crusade to make America more white, straight, and "Christian." But Amanda Jones wouldn't give up without a fight: she sued her harassers for defamation and urged others to join her in the resistance.

Mapping the book banning crisis occurring all across the nation, That Librarian draws the battle lines in the war against equity and inclusion, calling book lovers everywhere to rise in defense of our readers. (Amazon)

AAUW FY25 Annual Branch Survey Participation & Five Star Awards for Your State

Summary provided by Emily Hitchens, AAUW-WA President

Dear State Presidents,

Thank you for your leadership in encouraging branch participation in AAUW's FY25 Annual Branch Survey and Five Star Program. Your outreach made a real difference: this year we saw record participation from 453 branches that completed the survey, a 42% increase over last year. That growth reflects the strong partnership between state leaders and branches in advancing AAUW's mission.

Below you'll find a table listing the branches in your state that submitted the FY25 survey and the stars they earned (or did not earn) in the Five Star Program. We invite you to recognize and celebrate these branches wherever appropriate, whether that is on your website or upcoming newsletters and meetings.

WA9057-Issaquah	*			*
WA9061-Hudson's Bay	*				*

Next week we'll be following up with a separate note and materials about branches in your state that did not participate in the FY25 survey. Our goal is to reach out to these branches to identify barriers (e.g., timing, leadership transitions, technical access) and make it easier for every branch to engage in the next cycle. We're planning a two-quarter window for this state-level feedback effort so we can incorporate improvements ahead of the FY26 survey.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to reach out.

With appreciation,

Tremayne A. Parquet (he/him/his)

"In Washington State, 21 of our 23 branches completed the Branch Survey for FY25 [ended 6/30/2025]. Congratulations to Lake Washington Branch for earning all Five Stars! Of the remaining 20 branches, 8 branches earned 4 stars, 4 branches earned 3 stars, 3 branches earned 2 stars, and 2 branches earned 1 star. Thank you to all branches who completed the survey! Survey responses allow National to be aware of what's happening around the country, and to share good ideas with others. National is aware that it is more challenging for smaller branches and branches in small communities to earn the stars, and they have been strongly encouraged to adjust the criteria accordingly. That has not happened for FY26, however. Maybe next year." Excerpt from "The Evergreen Leader"

Please mark your calendars!

New Discussion Group

Back in September, Mary Kay sent an email suggesting a possible book/movie discussion group.

Feedback from some of our members who have shown interest in participating in this group and have offered the following ideas.

Carol Mohler suggested “1984” by George Orwell as a good first selection.

~ meet 4 times a year/once a quarter

~ read the book

~ get together to watch the movie - I have no problem with “long movies” i.e., 2-3 hours long, perhaps with an intermission?”

Lynn Zachow : “I think that meeting quarterly is a good idea.

If the idea is to read the book, watch the movie, and then have a discussion, I would like to read the book and watch the movie on my own and then meet for a discussion. If there are folks without the access to watch the movie, perhaps several folks can watch together.

I like the idea of taking on “1984” as our first read/movie. Also, “The Thursday Murder Club” just came out on Netflix.”

Liz Zietz sent a list of books/movies that she recommends.

Stay tuned for more updates...

AAUW works to remove barriers and advance inclusive, affordable, and equitable education

Education is a powerful catalyst for opportunity — but persistent barriers continue to hold women and girls back. From civil rights rollbacks and rising tuition to disproportionate debt and campus discrimination, systemic obstacles threaten access and equity at every level.”
